Tutoring Experience

For over two decades, I've taught mathematics across multiple curricula, including IB, A-Level, IGCSE, and various competitive exams such as GRE and SAT. My teaching experience spans both classroom settings and one-on-one tutoring, working with students from across the globe. My tailored approach ensures students excel no matter their academic background.

Throughout my career, I've helped students secure excellent results, with many achieving top grades in challenging exams. From guiding students through IB internal assessments to preparing them for competitive university entrance exams, I take pride in helping each learner reach their full potential.
