Tutoring Experience

Over the past 11 years, I've worked with students from a wide range of educational backgrounds, including IB, A-Level, and AP, helping them master complex mathematical concepts. My experience spans tutoring students from the US, Europe, and the Middle East, preparing them for their final exams and supporting them throughout their academic journey.

I specialize in topics such as calculus, algebra, and statistics, ensuring that students have a solid understanding of core mathematical principles. I've taught at various prestigious tutoring institutions, offering guidance on both coursework and exam preparation for GCSE, IGCSE, and IB students.

Throughout my career, I've been proud to see my students consistently excel, with many achieving top scores in their IB and A-Level exams. I take pride in creating a structured approach to learning, allowing students to gain confidence in their mathematical abilities and succeed in their studies.
