Tutoring Experience

Over the past 11 years, I've worked with students from diverse backgrounds, helping them excel in IB and A-Level Chemistry. My approach focuses on building strong foundations and ensuring students grasp core concepts, which has resulted in numerous students achieving top marks and progressing to prestigious universities.

In addition to working with school-level students, I've prepared candidates for AP Chemistry, ensuring they are ready for the challenges of university-level chemistry. My experience also extends to supporting students with their practical lab work, giving them a well-rounded understanding of both theoretical and applied chemistry.
