Tutoring Experience

With a decade of experience, I've had the privilege of teaching students from diverse backgrounds and academic levels, ranging from high school to university entrance exams. My focus has always been on helping students build a solid understanding of chemistry concepts, which has led many to excel in their exams and pursue higher studies in science.

In addition to teaching IB and A-Level Chemistry, I've also guided students through challenging IGCSE and AP curricula. My experience with various international standards has allowed me to adapt my approach to meet students' unique needs, preparing them for success in both their current studies and future academic endeavors.
